

Posted on Tue, Oct. 26, 2004

EDUCATION

Dade school among best in U.S., Catholic group says

Christopher Columbus High School placed high on the Catholic High School Honor Roll -- it's been listed as one of the top 50 in the nation.

Schools are recognized based on academic excellence, Catholic identity and civic education.

The all-male private school's Catholic identity received high marks, placing fifth in the nation.

Alumni from the West-Miami Dade school include Florida Supreme Court Justice Raoul Garcia Cantero III and Univision CEO Ray Rodriguez.

-- ERIKA PESANTES